Valuation Increased.

The Republican County Convention held last March, passed the following resolution: "We favor the re-assessment of all unseated lands in our county and insist that all non-resident owners and the state government compelled to pay equal taxes with resident owners."

At a recent session of the County Commissioners the timber lands were raised to $20 per acre. While this is a move in the right direction and will meet with the hearty approval of our citizens, it should have been $50.00 per acre. The timber is rapidly going and within a few years the farms and homes will be compelled to pay all taxes, yet this raise in the valuations will help. It should have been done years ago.

Baptist Church.

Rev. L. B. Twichell takes for his subject on Sunday night, "Kingdoms Being Weighed in The Balance." He will pay a passing tribute to Japan for patriotism and courage in conflict.

The Democratic Muddle.

The Democratic National Convention finally adjourned last Sunday morning after making a cowardly change in their platform by striking out the sound money plank, thereby going before the people without an issue, not having the courage to face a question of so vital importance. Before nominating Judge Parker for the Presidency he wired them that he did not endorse the platform, then the blue sulphur flew around in good old bourbon style. Ex-Senator H. G. Davis, of West Virginia a good old man, aged 81 years, was nominated from that safe and reliable Republican state for Vice President.

The Philadelphia Press sums up the work of the convention in a lengthy editorial, from which we extract the following:

"Judge Parker's unexpected telegram was a thunder-clap. It threw the convention first into passionate uproar and indignation and then into sullen resentful helplessness. The immediate impulse was to throw overboard the presumptuous candidate who condemned and spit upon the convention and platform, and plunge into a wild struggle for a new standard bearer. But it did not take long for even the embittered leaders who felt that they had been deceived, misled and put in a grotesque position to see that this would only aggravate their troubles, and that, galling as it was, they had better swallow their humiliation, and find some way out of the dilemma. The result was an answer to Judge Parker which was equivalent to saying: "We have made fools of ourselves on the money question; we are hopelessly divided, we can't say anything, and you can do as you please."

"It is plain from all reports and from every act that the convention was the most disorderly, the most inept, the most vacilating and inconsequent of any within public memory. It was incapable in its speeches, rioutous in its conduct, and double faced in its action. Many able men participated in its counsels, but the deepseated taint of a reckless, irresponsible organization seemed to infect its whole being. The majority where half hearted and uncertain in their beliefs and the minority were aggressive and defiant. They reached nominal harmony through violent discord only by finally agreeing on suppression and silence. The whole proceeding from beginning to end was typical of an ineffective party which is unfit for government and disqualified even for serious and competent opposition.

A Glorious Success.

Emporium has every reason to be proud of her Fourth of July demonstration. The town was crowded with people from all the adjoining towns, as far west as Kane, Olean on the north and Williamsport east. Every person who ever resided here was in evidence if they could get here. The day opened early, or rather the boys with the cannon opened the eyes of those sleeping when the clock struck twelve. The ball games started at eight o'clock, between Driftwood and Renovo, resulting in a victory for Renovo. The Emporium nine made the victors bite the dust in the afternoon.

The grand street parade at eleven o'clock, was the best ever witnessed in Emporium and admirably arranged. With plenty of music by Sinnamahoning and Emporium Bands and Major Murphy's Drum Corps, the marching [illegible] several organizations were [illegible]. The great hit of the day and most pleasing were the floats representing the States, as well as two floats, each containing a large number of Emporium's handsomest ladies. The floats representing some of our business houses were [illegible] and well gotten up. We [illegible]like to give more space to de[illegible]e exhibit but space will not [illegible]

Program for Firemen's Convention.

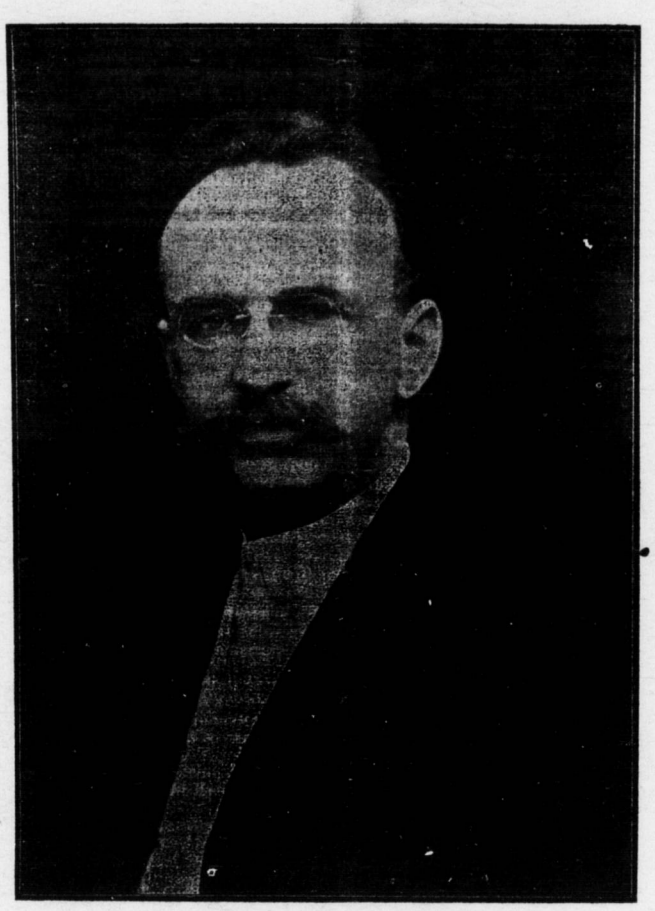
The committee of the Warren Fire Department, who are engaged in listing attractions and making preparations for the convention and carnival to be held at Warren during the week beginning August 7th, are busy with the arrangements and thus far have met with much success. The carnival is certain to prove a great attraction and the interest shown by the people of Warren is encouraging to the firemen, who are deserving of the general support of the community. This is not a money making affair. The firemen are only desirous of entertaining the firemen of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Firemen's Association and the visitors in a proper manner. The merchants will profit from the great crowds that will visit Warren and they should co-operate in making the week a gala one.—Warren Mirror.

Gents furnishings at N. Seger's are the handsomest in this county. Call and see them.



DR. EUGENE O. BARDWELL.
Republican Nominee for County Treasurer.

DR. EUGENE O. BARDWELL, Republican nominee for County Treasurer, was born in Warren county, Pennsylvania, March 12th, 1854, and is a thorough-bred American if there are any such, as he is a direct decendent of Serg't Robert Bardwell, of Hatfield, Mass., who had command of a company at Hatfield, during King Philip's war in 1675 and 1676, and was one of the most noted Indian fighters of the day.

Our candidate's father, Dr. Richard R. C. Bardwell, began the practice of medicine in Lottsville, Warren county, Pa., but removed in 1857 to Penn Yan, N. Y., where the subject of this sketch obtained his early education, receiving the Certificate of Scholarship of the Regents of the State of New York at the age of 12 years.

The Doctor spent two years as a clerk in a drug store, but at the age of 21 he decided to become a Doctor of Medicine, a decision which met his father's unqualified approval, and in February 1879, he was graduated from the Medical Department of the University of Buffalo, and began practice in Emporium in April of the same year.

With the exception of three years spent in the west and at his old home about 20 years ago, and two or three months in the south more recently, Doctor Bardwell, has resided in Emporium, during his entire professional life, over 25 years, and has always shown a lively interest in the welfare of the county.

Doctor Bardwell, was one of the leaders in the organization of our very effective Fire Department, and the first foreman and drill-master of the Mountaineer Hose Company, and has always given freely of his time and professional attainments for the benefit of the community.

For seven years he served as Health Officer of Emporium, without fee or emolument of any kind. Three years he served as Burgess or Mayor, with the same salary. During the past nine years the Doctor has been County Medical Inspector for the State Board of Health, re-appointed each year, and is considered by the State authorities to be one of their ablest officials. He has served fourteen years as Secretary of the Board of U. S. Pension Examining Surgeons at Emporium, and is a member of various Medical Societies, County, State and National.

Doctor Bardwell, holds the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, and also of Master of Arts conferred upon him by the Illinois Wesleyan University, after regular study and examination.

Those who know Dr. Bardwell best and who have most closely watched his administration of the public offices he has graced, are perfectly satisfied that he would be an honor to any office in the State, and that any office he may hold will be administered honestly, fairly, intelligently, and for the best interest of all concerned.

Dr. Bardwell is a gentleman of education and fully competent to transact the business of the office, will if elected faithfully discharge the duties of the position personally, having since the nomination repeated his pledge made when nominated to conduct the business of the office himself. Located in the central part of the town he is always to be found in his office, which will be a convenience to the public especially those having business to transact at the Bank.

During the Doctor's residence in this county, he has faithfully discharged, without recompense, every duty devolved upon him with honor to himself and the people. His popularity with the masses, regardless of party, will ensure his election.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

HALEY.

PATRICK HALEY, aged about 59 years, died Sunday morning from the effects of a paralytic stroke. Sunday morning, July 3rd, at an early hour, while attending to his duties as watchman at the Emporium tannery he was stricken down, but succeeded in making sufficient noise to attract the attention of engineer Murray. The faithful watchman was taken to his home on South Broad street and Dr. Bardwell summoned. He continued to grow worse and finally passed away last Sunday morning at seven o'clock, having been unconscious most of the time since his illness commenced, surrounded by his faithful wife and children.

Patrick Haley and wife came from Ireland in 1863, locating at Emporium, having been married just before sailing. Their only companion was the late David Murry, who also made his home in Emporium. Mr. and Mrs. Healy reared a family of eight children, four girls and four boys, viz: Mary, Ella, Margaret, Annie, Thomas, John, James and William, all of whom are living and present at the funeral, except Thomas in Montana, John in Colorado and Annie who is sick at Olean—her husband, Mr. Edward May and daughter, however, being present.

During the 41 year that Mr. Haley resided here he has been energetic and accumulated a good home and retained the confidence and respect of our citizens. His glad hand was always extended to a friend. When "Pat" Haley was a friend, he was one you could bank on; if he was not a friend you would know it in no unmistakable language. Farewell, old friend; we shall long remember a friendship that existed between the writer and yourself that could not be broken by the strife of this world.

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral services were conducted at St. Mark's Catholic church, Tuesday morning, when High Requim Mass was celebrated. The large church was filled with friends of the deceased, comprising all creeds. Rev. Father Downey's remarks upon the occasion were solid truths and sank deep in the hearts of all listeners.

The deceased was a member of the C. M. B. A., and carried $2.000 insurance.

HOLBROOK.

MISS MAY HOLBROOK, aged 40 years and ten months, died very suddenly about mid-night, Wednesday, July 6th, having been taken seriously ill about six o'clock. Dr. DeLong, who resides next door to Miss Holbrook was summoned and rendered all the aid he could but her weak heart soon failed and she passed away, surrounded by a few of her intimate lady friends. Miss Holbroook, who had been a cripple all her life, has during the past year or more failed very rapidly in health. In fact at the time of her death she was preparing to go to her sister, Mrs. E. E. Forbes at Marietta, Ohio, to have a serious operation performed. Deceased was a member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and Emmanuel Guild and while she lived somewhat of a retired life she attended and contributed cheerfully to all church work, having considerable means of her own. In spite of her dire affliction she was cheerful and bright, as well as witty. Since the death of her mother, ten months to the day, she had resided in the old homestead, which she inherited from her mother, together with a number of other properties.

Mr. and Mrs. Forbes were promptly telegraphed for, the sister arriving here Thursday evening and Mr. Forbes the following day. The shock to Mrs. Forbes was severe when she arrived in Emporium to learn her sister had passed away.

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon from the family residence, Rev. J. M. Robertson, Rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church officiating and the church choir conducting the singing. Although the day was very disagreeable and rainy, quite a large number of old friends were in attendance at the services. Interment was made in Newton Cemetery in the family lot, beside her father and mother.

LOGUE.

Died at Huntley, Pa., July 3rd, 1904, on the farm on which he was born and lived for 84½ years, HARRISON LOGUE, a men beloved by his children, respected and esteemed by all who knew him, a model man, honest and upright. Never in his long and useful life did he wrong a human being. He never had an enemy, Harrison Logue was married to Elizabeth Nelson in 1843. She died nearly 17 years ago. Mr. Logue was the father of eight children all of whom are living, 40 grand children, 31 of whom are living and seven great grand children of whom six are now living.

The funeral took place Wednesday, afternoon, July 6th, at two o'clock at the old Huntley Church. Truly a good man has gone to rest. A short time before he died, he said, "Praise the Lord, Praise the Lord forever." His daughter Mrs. Emeline Whitney, grand-daughter May and grandson Harry, of Superior, Wis., arrived the day he died. He recognized them all and spoke to them. At the close of a quiet, peaceful Sabbath day, typical of his own life, he breathed his last. At his bedside were four of his children, Mrs. Alonzo Nelson, of Wharton, Pa., Mrs. James D. Whitney, of Superior, Wis., William and David Logue, both of Huntley, Mrs. Clark Johnson, (Charlotte N.) of Owego, N. Y., arrived in time for the funeral. Potter Journal please copy.

Even in Spain waterfalls are now being used as a source of electric power. In one case 23 small villages are supplied from the power station. In Italy the employment of innumerable waterfalls has enormously increased the output of manufactured silk. "Here," says an English writer, "is a form of power that will last longer than Great Britain's coal fields.

In Germany, where indictments are not made by grand juries, and where there is no habeas corpus act, it has sometimes happened that innocent people have been confined in jail for many months. The Imperial Bundesrath is now considering a bill providing for the awarding of damages to any innocent person who may be forced to serve a time in jail.

The cultivation of rubber in Siam has recently been started, some thousands of plants having been set out as on experiment. These plants, of the Para variety (Hevea brasiliensis), are said to be doing exceedingly well, although they have had no especial care, but have been planted indiscriminately in various places and under varying conditions of moisture, sun, etc.

Mrs. Daniel Sully, who has been much in the public eye as the wife of the ex-cotton king, is said to be one of the most expert needle women in America. Her embroidery is equal to the much-vaunted convent work, and her favorite gift for a bride, in her intimate circle of friends, is a trousseau of lingerie worked entirely by her own hands, from seams to monogram.

A daily newspaper gives the following estimate of the number of idle men in the various industries: Railroad employes, 120,000; New England mill operatives, 80,000; packing house employes, 75,000; iron and steel workers, 140,000; coal miners, 60,000; workers, 140,000; coal miners, 60,000; workers in other trades and industries (estimated), 180,000; total, 665,000.

A chain of electric power station, stretching from Lima to a point in the Andes foothills, in Peru, South America, is to be the work of a new firm of engineers and architects. Much difficulty will be experienced in transporting the construction material and the heavy machinery from the seacoast to about 50 miles inland. Roads are an unknown quantity a short distance from Lima.

An Englishman visiting the World's fair recently wore in his buttonhole an orchid that had been plucked nearly two months and was still fresh and green. He called his floral ornament an "everlasting buttonhole," and stated that it was the latest fad in London. The flower is a new variety of the orchid which has the useful merit of remaining fresh for 60 days after being plucked.

One seldom hears of what is probably the largest and oldest—and to Western eyes the oddest—university in the world, El-Azhar, "the splendid," at Cairo, Egypt. While the dates of the founding of the universities of Oxford, Paris, and Bologna, for which great antiquity is claimed, are lost in the midst of the middle ages, El-Azhar can read its title clear from the year 975 A. D.

Colonization projects are proving very popular in the agricultural districts of Colorado. Negotiations are pending for the purchase of 5,000 acres of land, in a twelve-mile trip, along the Arkansas river, in Southern Colorado, for the establishment of a colony of ranchmen. A large party of people from Illinois is making arrangements to settle in the famous San Luis valley, on a tract of several thousand acres.

Colorado is looking well after the interests of those who desire fine fishing. Last spring nearly 600,000 eastern brook-trout fry alone were distributed by the fish and game commissioner in the various streams of the state, and there are more to follow. The rainbow trout, for which the waters of the Rocky mountains, in Colorado, are noted, will be distributed later in the season in equally large quantities.

The corn crop, which is so important a matter to the Southern farmer, although not usually considered a cash crop, is making as good progress as cotton, and a large yield is indicated. A good corn crop has a most important bearing upon the sale of the cotton crop. If corn is abundant farmers have to buy much less feed for their stock and food for their hands, hence cotton has to bear a smaller per cent. of the cost of maintaining the farm.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION HALL, ST. LOUIS.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION AT WORK

JOHN SHARP WILLIAMS, AS TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN, SOUNDED THE KEYNOTE OF THE CAMPAIGN FOR HIS PARTY—MENTION OF CLEVELAND'S NAME IS LUSTILY CHEERED.

Convention Held Four Sessions and Adopted Three Committee Reports—Mr. Bryan Received an Ovation When He Spoke—Congressman Champ Clark, of Missouri, Made Permanent Chairman—The Platform Is Adopted.

BULLETIN.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—Judge Alton Brooks Parker nominated at 5:30 this (Saturday) morning.

St. Louis, July 7.—The democratic national convention met yesterday, listened to an extended speech from Representative John Sharp Williams, its temporary chairman, appointed the committees necessary to perfect a permanent organization and adjourned.

In a session lasting two hours and fifty minutes one striking incident overshadowed all other proceedings. That was the enthusiastic and prolonged cheering which greeted the name of Grover Cleveland. While the outburst which greeted the name of the former democratic president was noteworthy in itself, it was magnified by contrast with the greetings accorded men who stood for all that has been opposed to Mr. Cleveland within the party during the last eight years.

James K. Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the national committee, went onto the platform and took his seat unnoticed. Practically no greeting was given him when he faced the convention with gavel in hand.

There were other staiwart lieutenants of the Nebraskan who entered the hall unacclaimed and lastly Mr. Bryan himself, whom for the first time during two national campaigns was greeted with silence. Eight minutes after the gavel fell the twice named candidate of his party passed in the main entrance and sought his seat unheralded and unheeded. A few moments later he arose and pushed his way to a seat nearer the aisle, where, standing a moment to give greetings to friends, he was caught sight of and applauded.

The great Coliseum where the convention is held is admirably adapted to accommodate the crowds which pressed for admission as soon as the doors were opened. Before 11 o'clock the spectators' seats began to fill, although the space on the floor alloted to delegates and their alternates remained barren until noon, when the session was called to order.

That the duty of decorating the immense hall was entrusted to skilled hands was apparent from the first glimpse of the interior. The general effect is a mammoth arched canopy of buff, ribbed and fringed with white, with walls formed of alternate strips of red, white and blue.

The balconies were dressed in white bunting, gracefully caught up every few yards. Medallions bearing the coats of arms of the states are placed about the balconies at regular intervals

The committee on resolutions met immediately after the adjournment, and, effecting an organization and transacting considerable preliminary work, adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by ex-Senator Hill, of New York, and on his motion Senator Daniel, of Virginia, was elected chairman of the committee and given authority to appoint a secretary and a sub-committee of 11 to consider the various drafts of platforms and report.

The committee on resolutions reconvened at 7 o'clock and Senator Daniel announced the appointment of a sub-committee, as follows: Messrs. Daniel, Virginia; Hill, New York; Bryan, Nebraska; Williams, Mississippi; Pattison, Pennsylvania; Dubois, Idaho; Hamlin, Massachusetts; Cable, Illinois; Poe, Maryland; Shively, Indiana, and Davis, West Virginia.

Senator Newlands made a plea for a fuller representation of the irrigation interests, and his name was added to the sub-committee list.

The credentials committee met at the Southern hotel. James M. Head, of Tennessee, was nominated by James M. Ridgway, of New York, for permanent chairmn. John J. Fitzgerald, of Rhode Island, a Hearst supporter, nominated J. R. Corrigan, of Minnesota. The question of Hearst or Parker men controlling the committee depended upon the selection of the chairman, for Head and the Tennessee delegation are avowed supporters of Parker. On the vote the Parker men won a decisive victory, Mr. Head being elected by a vote of 32 to 12.

The credentials committee decided to award six seats and six votes each to the delegation from the Philippines and the Porto Rican delegation.

Judge Alton Brooks Parker.

The rules committee of the convention by a vote of 26 to 6 decided not to abrogate the two-thirds vote for candidates in the convention and rejected a proposition for a majority.

St. Louis, July 8.—The democratic national convention yesterday adopted the report of the committees on rules, credentials and permanent organization. The session opened at 10 o'clock, an hour later took a recess until 2 p. m. and adjourned at 6:20 until 10 o'clock to-day. During the day several speeches were made, chief of which was William Jennings Bryan's effort to overthrow the report of the credentials committee and seat contesting delegates from Illinois. The controversy was ended by the rejection of the minority report of the committee by a vote of 647 nays to 299 nays.

Though Mr. Bryan's speech and his appearance on the floor of the convention was cheered far beyond any previous demonstration, it made few votes. The alignment of delegates proved the correctness of previous estimates of the division between those who favor the radicals and those who are supporting the conservative element which is now in control.

When the result of the contest was announced the report of the committee on permanent organization was made. Representative Champ Clark, who was chosen permanent chairman, addressed the convention. He had prepared and furnished to the press a speech of great length. The hour was so late when he gained the platform, however, that he spoke about 300 words and left his audience to read the remainder.

THE PLATFORM BUILDERS.

The sub-committee of the committee on resolutions spent the entire day in perfecting the details of the democratic platform, concluding at 5 o'clock with the adoption of a gold standard plank. The plank was voted in during the absence of Mr. Bryan and Congressman Williams and the ballot stood 7 to 3, the affirmative votes being cast by Messrs. Daniel, Hill, Pattison, Hamlin, Cable, Poe and Davis, and the negative votes by Messrs. Dubois, Shively and Newlands.

The platform was presented to the full committee at 8 o'clock. Some of the planks:

The Isthmian Canal.

Our party having long advocated the construction of an inter-oceanic canal for the purpose of national defense and commerce between the states and with foreign nations, we favor the early completion of the Isthmian canal.

But while making this declaration and accepting the results as an accomplished fact, we cannot too forcibly express our disapproval of the methods by which, in disregard of the usages and obligations of international law and treaty obligations, the canal route has been acquired, or too solemnly record our hope that this precedent of defiant diplomacy may never be used against us to our humiliation and injury.

Monroe Doctrine.

We favor the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine in its full integrity.

We favor a liberal trade treaty with Canada.

Imperialism.

We favor the preservation insofar as we can of an open door for the world's commerce in the Orient without unnecessary entanglement in Oriental and European affairs, and without arbitrary, unlimited, irresponsible and absolute government anywhere within our jurisdiction. We oppose, as fervently as did George Washington himself an indefinite, irresponsible, discretionary and vague absolutism and a policy of colonial exploitation, no matter where or by whom invoked or exercised; we believe with Thomas Jefferson and John Adams that no government has a right to make one set of laws for those "at home" and another and a different set of laws, absolute in their character, for those "in the colonies."

We insist that we ought to do for the Filipinos what we have already done for the Cubans. And it is our intent, as soon as it can be done wisely and safely for the Filipinos themselves, and after amicable arrangements with them concerning naval stations, coaling stations and trade relations and upon suitable guarantees of protection to all national and international interests to set the Filipino people upon their feet, free and independent, to work out their own destiny.

The endeavor of the secretary of war, by pledging the government's indorsement of "promoters" in the Philippine Islands to make the United States a partner in speculative exploitation of the archipelago which was only temporarily held up by the opposition of democratic senators in the last session will, if successful, lead to a permanent entanglement from which it will be difficult to escape.

Statehood for Territories.

We favor statehood for Oklahoma and the Indian Teritory, statehood for Arizona, statehood for New Mexico and a territorial government for Porto Rico.

We favor the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

St. Louis, July 9.—The committee on resolutions spent all of Thursday night on the platform and at 8:30 considered the last resolution of the draft submitted by the sub-committee. But this did not mean that the platform was finished and ready for the convention.

During the long night in the committee room there were many dramatic scenes, not the least striking of which was the verbal encounter between Senator Hill and Mr. Bryan.

At 4:40 in the morning the committee on resolutions voted the gold standard plank out of the platform by a vote of 35 to 15. This was the third victory for William J. Bryan during the all-night session of the committee. He had made two successful efforts early in the evening and secured modifications of the tariff plank on two separate votes.

The Carmack suggestion for a financial plank was voted down and the platform was adopted without a financial plank.

Mr. Hill presented a substitute for the trust plank, which was unanimously accepted. The compromise anti-trust plank offered by Mr. Hill and adopted provides that whenever a trust or combination effects a monopoly in the production or distribution of any articles of trade outside the state of its origin, it may be restricted by appropriate legislation from continuing to do business in such states.

The trust matter disposed of, the race question was taken up and a plank deploring injection of this issue into the campaign by the Chicago convention was adopted.

The national convention spent the morning hours Friday in waiting for the report of the committee on resolutions. A committee was appointed by Chairman Champ Clark to call on the resolutions committee and learn when the platform would be submitted to the convention. Just before the noon hour the convention's emissaries announced that the resolutions committee would require until 8 p. m. to prepare its report, but that the action of the committee would be unanimous.

Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson was then called upon and he was enthusiastically cheered. He spoke principally in relation to the disfranchisement plank of the republican platform and made an appeal to the north and the west to support the south in the position the democratic party of that section has assumed between whites and blacks. The convention then took a recess until 8 o'clock.

The crush of visitors around the doors and inside the convention hall at 8 o'clock, the time set for the opening of the convention, was greater than at any previous session. It was something rarely paralleled at any national convention.

A series of energetic thumps on the presiding officer's table were given by Chairman Clark at 8:03 o'clock in an endeavor to call the convention to order. The reading clerk ordered the floor officers to clear the aisles. As Mr. Clark stood at the desk Senator Daniel, of Virginia, chairman of the resolutions committee, made his way to his side with a copy of the platform in his hand.

Without delay it was announced that the report of the committee would be received.

Becoming impatient at the delay Senator Daniel began reading in the midst of the uproar.

Senator Daniel's exhaustion from his long session with the resolutions committee was apparent. To the vast audience which faced him he was but a silent figure with moving lips. When he had finished reading he said:

"I am unanimously instructed by your committee on platform to move the previous question on its adoption and I now make that motion."

It was adopted by a viva voce vote. Chairman Clark then put the motion to adopt the report and another viva voce vote carried it.

"The clerk will now call the roll of states for the nomination of a candidate for president," shouted the chairman.

"Alabama," shrieked the clerk.

"Alabama yields to the Empire State of New York," called Delegate Russell, of Alabama.

Martin W. Littleton, of New York, took the stand amid applause to place Judge Parker in nomination. Mr. Littleton's voice is resonant and could be heard further than that of any speaker who had preceded him with the possible exception of Richmond P. Hobson.

All that happened in the convention up to the time Mr. Littleton concluded his address, multiplied many times, was almost as nothing compared to the hurricane that broke out when he mentioned the name "Alton B. Parker." On the part of the Parker delegates it was a revelation in the passion of politics. Like one man they sprang up in their chairs with everything that could be waved tossed high in the air.

The roll call of states was continued. When Arkansas was reached that state yielded to Tennessee. Senator Carmack appeared to second the nomination of Parker.

Senator Carmack concluded his speech at 10:15. The galleries seized the opportunity for a shout and disturbance reigned for some minutes.

"California," called the clerk.

"Mr. Chairman," responded Delegate Tarpey, "California recognizes as her spokesman E. M. Delmas." Mr. Delmas then took the platform and spoke for William R. Hearst.

Mr. Delmas closed with the name "William Randolph Hearst," which was the signal for cheers which, while enthusiastic, were much less in volume than those that followed the mention of Parker's name.

When quiet was restored [illegible] O'Donnell, of Colorado, was introduced. Mr. O'Donnell seconded the nomination of Parker.

After the applause which followed O'Donnell's conclusion Connecticut was called. Walter S. Cummings took the platform and seconded the nomination of Parker.

Irving Handy, of Delaware, followed Mr. Cummings and nominated Judge George Gray.

The chairman of the Florida delegation seconded the nomination of Parker. Beard, of Florida, nomination of Hearst on behalf of four of the Florida delegates. Moses Wright, of the Florida-Georgia, seconded Parker.

"Illinois," shouted the clerk and Clarence Darrow, of that state, began a speech seconding the nomination of Hearst.

Indiana was called next and J. W. Kern responded to second the nomination of Judge Parker.

Kansas produced a speaker in J. W. Orr, who in a few words seconded the nomination of Parker.

Thomas H. Ball, of Texas, was next recognized to second the nomination of Parker.

Louisiana seconded the nomination of Parker by a simple announcement.

Maine gave way to Missouri. Champ Clark, of that state, took the platform to place in nomination Senator Francis M. Cockrell, of Missouri, for the presidency.

At 2:10 a. m. Mayor Patrick Collins, of Boston, rose to nominate Olney. The mention of Olney's name was heartily cheered.

When Nebraska was called there were loud calls for Bryan. After many calls Bryan mounted a chair and received an ovation.

Bryan announced that Nebraska yielded to Wisconsin.

David S. Rose nominated Wall, of Wisconsin.

Arrested on a Treason Charge.

Messina, Sicily, July 7.—The authoritics here have arrested Capt. Ercolesse, of the Italian army, and his wife on the charge of high treason in selling to agents of a foreign power plans for the mobilization of the Italian forces in Sicily. The arrest of Ercolesse has created a great sensation, as he is the first officer since the Italian union to be charged with high treason. It is rumored that France is the foreign country implicated. At the moment of his arrest Ercolesse tried to shoot himself and his wife attempted to stab herself.

Cranks Write to Judge Parker.

Esopus, N. Y., July 8.—Letters from cranks of various kinds are beginning to make their appearance in Judge Parker's mail. One of them, received a day or two ago, purports to give him warning of a "dastardly plot" against his person and told him to remain close at home. Another writer, from Virginia, signing himself "A lunatic," but evidently a person of intelligence, is sending a series of numbered postal cards, one a day, devoted to denunciation of the exponents of "safe and sane democracy."

Beavers Is Rearrested.

New York, July 8.—George W. Beavers, former superintendent of the salaries and allowances bureau of the postoffice department, was rearrested in Brooklyn yesterday under an indictment found in Washington, on October 5, 1903. It charges Beavers with having accepted bribes in connection with the introduction of the Doremus cancelling machine into the postoffice department. Beavers was brought at once before Judge Thomas, who set the hearing of the case for next Wednesday, paroling Beavers until then.

Uncle Sam Wins a Lawsuit.

Washington, July 8.—The district supreme court yesterday decided in favor of the government the case of Anna Bowes and others against the secretary of the interior. The effect of the decision is to stop cattle companies from the misuse of the soldier's homestead right belonging to widows so as to secure large bodies of land without compliance with the law by the entrywomen.

Gen. T. B. Howard Dead.

Washington, July 8.—Gen. Thomas B. Howard, of the Confederate army, died here Thursday.

COST OF WAR TO UNC

$1,000,000,000 Has Been Exper. the United States for Waging v.. fare.

Few people realize the amount of money which has been expended by the United States government in carrying on its war with Spain and the attendant fighting in the Philippines. From the beginning of the Spanish-American conflict to the end of the present fiscal year, June 30, 1904, according to statements compiled by Edward Atkinson for the government, the cost of waging warfare aggregates over $1,000,000,000. Each American citizen contributes to the support of the forces and it costs every individual a little over two dollars.

The Spanish-American war cost the United States $300,000,000, a large amount of money being devoted to pensioning veterans. Warfare in the Philippines will, by the end of June, have cost $700,000,000, and as the population of the country is about 82,000,000, nearly $165,000,000 is annually paid by the people toward the war fund.

The war taxes are laid indirectly, every article of necessity, comfort and luxury, such as sugar, potatoes, fish, beer, spirits, tobacco, wood, leather, fuel, metals and clothing being subject to the duty.

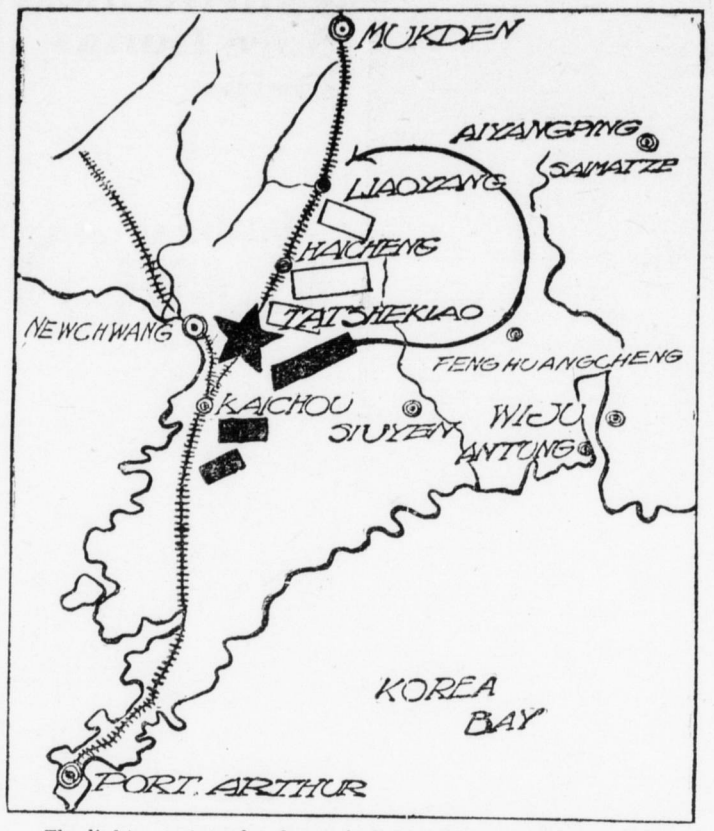
SCENE OF ACTIVITY IN THE RUSSIAN-JAPANESE WAR.



The lighter rectangular figures indicate the approximate position of the Russians. Those in black show general location of the Japanese. The curved line with arrow marks the direction in which the latter are reported to be attempting a movement around and behind Kuropatkin's army to cut off his connection with his base at Mukden. The star indicates position of Tatchekiao, which may be center of great battle.

War Bulletins.

RUSSIANS LOST 200 MEN.

St. Petersburg, July 6.—Thirteen companies of Russian troops sent out by Gen. Keller in a reconnaissance in force to ascertain the strength of the Japanese columns advancing on Liao Yang came into collision Monday with the Japanese between Mo Tien and Fen Shui passes. Sharp fighting resulted and the Russians retired before overwhelming numbers after ascertaining the exact strength of the Japanese forces. The Russian losses are officially stated to be 200. The Japanese lost 15 killed and 30 wounded.

A DARING EXPLOIT.

London, July 7.—The Liao Yang correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch dated July 7 at 1 a. m., says:

"A battle is proceeding 25 miles from here. Numbers of wounded are being brought in from the mountains. Evidently the engagement is a severe one. It is believed that the Japanese are continuing their advance with the object of cutting off Mukden."

St. Petersburg, July 7.—A few nights ago Admiral Togo attempted to repeat the Japanese exploit with torpedo boats at Wei-Hai-Wei, during the Chino-Japanese war, by sending torpedo boat destroyers into the harbor of Port Arthur for the purpose of sinking ships at their anchorage, but the attempt ended in disastrous failure. Four torpedo boat destroyers succeeded in creeping into the harbor, which was not protected by booms, but only one escaped. Two were sunk by the shore batteries and one was crippled. The reckless bravery of the Japanese in going to almost certain destruction excites nothing but admiration here. The channel at Port Arthur is so tortuous and strewn with wrecks without that evidently it was regarded as unnecessary to use a boom.

The Peterbourgsky Listok last evening published a dispatch from Liao Yang announcing that an engagement has occurred at Ta Tche Kiao during which Russian cavalry under Gen. Samsonoff, supported by a battery of horse artillery, dislodged a Japanese force from the heights in face of a heavy machine gun and musketry fire. The Russians pursued the Japanese and inflicted heavy loss upon them.

TIGHTENING THEIR GRIP.

Tokio, July 8.—Operations of paramount importance are going on within the war zone, but the government succeeds in veiling them in almost absolute secrecy. Since the occupation of Dalny the government officials have been silent concerning conditions at Port Arthur. It is generally believed, however, that the Japanese army and navy are daily tightening their relentless grip on the beseiged city and that a final assault, followed by the fall of the fortress, is now only a matter of weeks.

Che Foo, July 8.—Chinese who arrived here Wednesday night from Port Arthur say the Japanese forces have formed a complete cordon around the land side of the town and that they are occupying all the commanding hills within a radius of seven miles of the fortifications. The Chinese say also that two large warships are missing from the squadron which went out from Port Arthur on June 23 and that the Russian battleship Sevastopol was damaged on that day.

JAPS CAPTURED TEN GUNS.

London, July 9.—The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Chronicle under date of July 8, says that the Japanese captured ten guns and 50 prisoners near Kai-Chou.

Tien Tsin, July 9.—Three Frenchmen who arrived at Takuya from Port Arthur, having come over in a Chinese junk, report that 30,000 soldiers and 10,000 marines compose the garrison of the Russian stronghold and that the Russians have mounted 700 guns on heights north of Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—Gen. Sakharoff, commander of the eastern army, in a dispatch to the general staff reports outpost skirmishes over a wide territory throughout July 5 and 6.

FLOODS IN KANSAS.

Rising Rivers Cause Great Damage to Homes and Crops.

Kansas City, July 8.—One-half of Armourdale, the packing house town in the suburbs of Kansas City, is under water from the overflow of the Kaw river. The water is still rising at a rapid rate and conditions approaching the great flood of 1893 are feared. The stage of the river is higher than at any time since then. The lowlands of Argentine and Rosedale, other suburbs, also are flooded and hundreds of laboring people have left their homes.

Heavy damage is reported throughout Kansas, from Abilene, Arkansas City, Ottawa and Lawrence, where the Smoky Hill, the Solomon, the Walnut and the Marais Des Cygnes rivers are rising at the rate of two inches per hour. The damage to crops will be enormous. In the vicinity of Abilene alone it is estimated that the damage will amount to $250,000.

Hundreds of wagons were engaged all day in removing household goods from the suburbs of Kansas City, Kan., along the Kaw river, while in the west bottoms near the Missouri-Kansas line, thousands of dollars' worth of goods were either removed from the district or placed upon upper floors.

Topeka, Kan., July 8.—The Kaw river is above the 22-foot mark and rising slowly. In North Topeka the water is running through the principal streets knee deep and the town is deserted.

Wichita, Kan., July 8.—Wichita is flooded worse than ever before in its history. The dykes at several places along the Little river gave way before the rush of water which poured down Waco avenue, one of the principal residence streets.

The house of Cass Woods, a park policeman in Riverside park, was was washed away and Mrs. Woods and her two children drowned.

Murdered His Father.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 6.—Mack Hern, of Paducah, aged 28, shot and killed his father, James Hern, aged 60, a barkeeper. The dead man had been divorced and married again and the son took offense at remarks made against his mother and they exchanged blows.

Lives Lost Because of Fire.

Boston, July 6.—Three lives were lost during a fire which destroyed the grain elevator and three freight houses of the Boston & Maine Railroad Co. on Mystic wharf, Charlestown, yesterday.

A Japanese Victory.

Ta Tche Kiao, July 8.—The Japanese swarmed over the mountain crests Wednesday and advanced on Kai-Chou, compelling Gen. Chirikoff, with the Russian vanguard, to fall back. A brigade of Japanese, with masses of cavalry, followed and occupied the village of Nan-Tay, driving out two companies of Russian infantry and two companies of Cossacks. The Japanese arrived within five miles of Kai-Chou. Gen. Samsonoff made a heroic attempt to check the Japanese, inflicting great loss on them.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, July 11th, 1904.

Editor Press:—

The 50th anniversary of the birth of the Republican party was celebrated in this city on the 6th inst., by the Republican clubs of the District. Ex-Senator John M. Thurston presiding at the mass meeting. In a letter from Geo. B. Cortelyou, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, he said: "May the celebratiou which you and your associates have arranged voice the spirit of true Republicanism—the spirit that during half a century has animated the great organization whose principles and whose policies have been among the mightiest forces in our moral and material development." Senator Turston characterized the St. Louis Convention as representatives of the "ragtag and bobtail of humanity." And speaking of the president he said: "He can be relied upon to preserve all our domestic prosperity and all on international prestige. In his strength, honesty, courage and patriotism the Amerian people can safely repose their trust." It is announced at Oyster Bay that the President is enjoying picnics with his family in the surrounding forests, and that he will return to the Capital about August first and hold a Cabinet meeting. Most of the Cabinet Officers are away from Washington. Secretary Morton has gone to Chicago, to attend on the 14 inst., complimentary dinner given by the Merchant's Club. He will return early in August in time to meet the President. Mr. Cortelyou did not leave Washington for a couple of weeks as recommended by the President, but has opened a temporary office in the annex of the Arlington hotel, where he has taken off his coat and gone to word preparing for the campaign, and waiting for the outcome of the St. Louis Convention. He has been besieged by an army of politicians seeking an interview, offering advice, and hoping for work and wages. Elmer Dover is also there, as the right hand man of the Chairman, and some active and decisive work may be expected in the near future.

Few people remember that just forty years ago this month a battle was fought in Washington for the defense of the city, and that Abraham Lincoln was a spectator of the conflict. The battle is known as that of Fort Stevens, in which 6 officers and 50 men were killed, and 8 officers and 137 men were wounded. On the 12th inst., a fine monument will be unveiled in commemoration of the event. It has been erected on the exact spot where President Lincoln stood.

Excavations for the new National Museum which is to stand on the north side of the Mall have been begun. It will be a two-story structure of granite, and will have 27 acres of flooring. The cost is to be $3,500,000. Already it is thought that there are enough articles in the old museum to fill the new one. One of the well-known men connected with the Museum is Prof. Otis T. Mason, who has recently suffered from a stroke of paralysis. He gives it as his opinion that blonde women are becoming scarcer every year. How the Professor knows is not stated. He seems to be a little off; possibly he is color blind. He says the cause is because blonde women marry brunette men. Alas! if this theory is true, in time there will be no color line—all Americans will be polychromatic, composed of red, yellow, brown, and black, and pure white, which is no color at all, will disappear. Anthropology is a wonderful science. It can indicate the color of the coming man.

With the Camera Abroad.

The sprightly letters of travel that are appearing in The Delineator from month to month take the reader, in the August number, over a most interesting route, from Jerusalem to Nice. Through the aid of camera and pen one gets a very satisfactory impression of many of the Old World cities, and not only of the customary resorts of the sight-seer, but of many out-of-the-way places where history and nature unite to create interest. Constantinople, ancient Athens, beggarly but none the less beautiful Naples, ruined Pompell, Florence, Venice and Rome and the highways and byways of Greece and Italy furnish the substance for this letter of the series, and the photographs, where they are not of unusual places, are unusual pictures, giving a new interest to familiar spots,

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by Jno. E. Smith, Sterling Run.

The School that Educates to Money Making.

A ten months' course here fits a young man to AT ONCE earn a larger salary than does a four years' course in any college or university, supplemented by the usual three years' special preparation. Ten months against seven years, to say nothing of the tremendous difference in expense! It is a positive fact—with hundreds of references for the proof. Young men stenographers and bookkeepers are at a premium. Our 23d school year will open Sept. first.

THE UNSEEN.

In glamorous summer days
When the wind a soft tune plays,
What is sweeter to the ear
Than to hear
The merry sound of laborers a-field
Gathering up the harvest yield!

Such music of the Earth
Is blent with peace that fills the heart
Of him who slumbers 'neath the silent sky,
Or wakes betimes to hear some song of worth
That draws his soul apart
To wonder at Life's mystery.

And often as the song
Of man or bird
Is heard,
It genders thoughts that in their passing bring
A never-ending throng
Of pulses from a world unseen,
That comes as on the wing
And pass; yet he, who will, can glean
Therefrom a mystic Word to feed his soul
And lead him nearer to his goal.

GAMBLING WITH FATE

By WILLIAM WALLACE COOK

Author of "The Gold Gleaners: A Story of the Cyanide Tanks," "Wilby's Dan," "His Friend the Enemy," "Rogers of Butte," Etc., Etc.

(Copyright, 1903, by William Wallace Cook)

"Elise and her aunt want to come," went on Lenyard, seating himself.

"You have told them about—Sturgis?"

"Yes. It was hard, Darrel, to mar her happiness, but Elise is bearing up nobly. She had expected the worst and that prepared her, in a way."

"Yet you did not tell her the worst?"

"That her father had changed his name and had become a gambler? No. I spared her that."

"It was best that you did so."

"I told Elise how you helped me, Darrel; told her how I had come out to this country entrusted with money by some eastern friends who reposed faith in my integrity and was to examine a mine and close a deal for its purchase. She knows that I was false to my trust and lost the money at the gambling table and that you won it back for me. That is why she wants to see you and thank you. We are all leaving to-morrow for Anaconda and the east. Won't you go with me now to the hotel?"

Darrel shook his head.

"Don't urge me, Lenyard. You have repaid me a hundredfold for everything I did for you."

Lenyard leaned forward and laid a friendly hand on Darrel's knee.

"What of the future, Darrel?" he asked.

"Let us not talk of my future, but of yours."

"I must speak what is in my mind and I trust you will take no offense. You are fitted for better things, Darrel, and why not try for them?"

"In other words you think I should reform?"

"So far as card-playing goes, yes."

"No, I will not. My reputation would cling to me. You remember that Old Man of the Sea that fastened himself to Sinbad's neck? That is the sort of a reputation I would have if I tried to reform. I would rather be what I am."

"But a man can live down a reputation."

"Some kinds; not one like mine. Why, my lad, I am the author of a brave play in poker. It is known as 'Darrel's discard.' Every blackleg in the west knows of it." He laughed. "The notoriety pleases me, for it takes nerve to discard aces."

Lenyard tried to argue, but Darrel reached for the written sheets that lay beside him on the table.

"After all," he said, settling back in his chair, the sheets in his hand, "what does it matter? It takes all kinds of men to make a world and I am not so sure that a gambler has not his uses in the great universal scheme. I have some verses here, Lenyard. They are very poor, but sometimes my thoughts come in rhymes and I jot them down to get them out of my head. I am going to call this doggerel 'N'Importe!' and you shall listen to it, for it reflects my mood to-day."

Then, with the smoking cigar between his slender white fingers and the feathery vapor creeping around his handsome face, he read:

A sage I knew once blew and blew
Upon a pipe of clay,
And from that pipe a bubble ripe
And perfect, dropped away.
Then, as I gazed, a rainbow blazed
Across the bubble's face,
And meads were seen, and hills of green,
And life in ev'ry place;
And lo! a play, in brave array,
We saw as we stood by;
And on the stage there stood the sage,
And near the sage, stood I.
What work we made, or how we played,
It boots not here to tell,
Yet hopes and fears, and smiles and tears,
That bubble-world befell.
Then, as we wrought, with sudden thought,
The sage blew 'out his breath,
And in a mist, ere one could list,
That bubble died the death.

Then spake the sage: "Man's heritage
Of happiness and woe,
Is like the things our fancy brings,
For fancies come and go.
Time wears apace, and into space
A throbbing ball is hurl'd,
And on the ball live motes who call
That throbbing ball a world.
But countless globes in starry robes
Are thrown across the sky.
So what is earth, whose feeble girth
The earthly magnify?
And what the cares of man's affairs,
For better or for worse?
As man to sphere, our sphere's career
Is to the universe.
For like a dream where things but seem,
Or like a house of glass,
Or like a mist the winds have kiss'd,
This bubble-world shall pass!"

Lenyard never forgot that talk with Darrel. When the young man started back to the hotel the gambler shook his hand, bade him remember his promise and said "Good-by."

"Oh," returned Lenyard, quickly, "I shall see you again."

"Perhaps," said Darrel, with a queer smile. He intended leaving early for Anaconda, much earlier than Lenyard could leave with Mrs. Gorton and Elise. He would post a letter to Lawrence Ormsby, in Anaconda, telling him of his friend McCloud, then he would return to the old life in San Francisco.

Lenyard went away, strangely depressed.

CHAPTER XXI.

DARREL YIELDS THE GAME TO FATE.

At ten o'clock that night Nate Darrel was in Hawkbill's, playing. Luck was against him.

He was a pleasant loser, however. Again and again he laughed as he bought the little red, white and blue columns and again and again he laughed as they were taken from him.

"Fate makes or mars us, gentlemen," said he, directly reversing his old philosophy; "we have little voice in the matter. Fortune is a coy goddess and one never can be sure of her."

At last he picked up a hand of three knaves and two aces. Following his time-honored custom he discarded the aces.

What he found in his two-card draw drove the blood from his cheeks and held him rigid in his chair. "What are you doing?" asked the next player. "It's up to you."

Darrel slid the cards together and laid them face down on the table. "I am asking your forbearance for a few minutes, gentlemen," said he, and then turned calmly to a waiter and asked for an envelope and a sheet of paper.

They were brought to him and he took a pencil from his pocket and wrote a few words, shielding the writing with his hand from the curious eyes of the others.

HIS WORDS WERE LOST IN A SHARP REPORT ACCOMPANIED BY A CRASH OF GLASS.

Folding the sheet, he placed it inside the envelope, sealed the flap and wrote the address: "Mr. Roy Lenyard, Grand Central hotel."

"Will you deliver this?" he asked, laying a silver dollar on the letter and handing it to the waiter.

"Certainly, sir," said the waiter, reading the address. "I'll take it over at once."

"The quicker the better," returned Darrel.

The other players supposed it was a request on some friend for a loan and the play went on. Darrel lost.

"Excuse me, gentlemen," said Darrel, shoving the cards away from him and rising. "I shall have to—"

His words were lost in a sharp report, accompanied by a crash of glass. Darrel sank slowly back into his chair and bowed forward.

* * * * * * *

Murgatroyd was showing himself a model prisoner. He was alone in the jail and was making the guard no trouble whatever.

He had been incarcerated in the early morning hours and Merrick proposed holding him in Sandy Bar until the Anaconda stage made its next trip, which would be on the following day.

The single guard had been twice relieved. The third man came on duty at ten o'clock.

Five minutes after he had posted himself in front of the building Cliff came.

"Did ye bring it?" the guard asked, hoarsely.

"Give me the key," said Cliff, sharply.

"Money first!"

"Is your horse ready?"

"If ye've got the stuff I'll be away in three minutes."

"Five thousand," said Cliff, peering hastily about him into the gathering shadows and shoving something into the guard's hand. "Now, the key."

"Wait!" The guard stepped to where a light was shining through one of the barred windows and thumbed the bills with trembling fingers. "All right," he said, coming back. "Here's yer key. I'm off."

Like a wraith he faded into the gloom.

Cliff unlocked the door and stepped inside.

"Is it all right, Cliff?" asked Murgatroyd, starting up from beside a table.

"Right as a trivet. Here's money and here's a revolver and you'll find a horse waiting in the creek bottom, directly north of here. Hustle, now. The coast is clear, but there's no telling when Merrick will show up."

Murgatroyd started for the door.

"Where's Darrel?" he asked, suddenly.

"He's over at Hawkbill's. But never mind Darrel; you've got yourself to think about. Clear out, old man. That's your cue. I've done all I can for you."

Murgatroyd opened the door and stepped out of the jail a free man. Passing around the building he started north, toward the Eponay. But, when in the deep shadow and out of Cliff's sight, he turned east and approached Hawkbill's from the rear.

Gliding from one uncurtained window to another along the side of the structure, he finally came to a halt and drew his revolver.

The marshal was passing along the street toward the jail and heard the report, the crash of glass and the cries of alarm from those in the gambling den. Whirling about he saw a figure plunging rapidly away into the night.

"Halt!" he cried, giving pursuit and jerking a weapon from his belt as he ran; "halt, or I'll shoot!"

The form was merely a blot of shadow in the night and Merrick could see it still moving away from him.

Another instant and the marshal had paused, crooked his arm before his face, laid the barrel across it and pulled the trigger.

The moving blot sank downward, seemingly into the earth.

* * * * * * *

As Roy Lenyard stood at the door of the Grand Central hotel a man approached him and handed him a letter.

"From Mr. Darrel," he said.

Drawing back into the lighted office, the young man opened the envelope, drew out the inclosed sheet, unfolded it and read:

Dear Lenyard: I have drawn two sevens. This gives me a hand of knaves and red sevens and I shall not leave the table alive. Please send a letter to Mr. Lawrence Ormsby, Anaconda, stating that McCloud is here, in Sandy Bar. Ormsby is McCloud's friend and will look after him. DARREL.

Before he had finished reading sounds of shooting came from down the street and people began running in the direction of Hawkbill's.

Lenyard, without pausing a second, ran out and hurried with them.

REAL HORSE SENSE.

Tale of a Cossack Horse That Understood His Master's Peculiarities.

My maternal over grandfathers, Van der Meerschaut, had a little Cossack horse captured from the Russian invaders in 1814, relates a writer in Forest and Stream. The old gentleman was lame in one leg as the result of a hunting accident, but withal a good horseman when once in the saddle. When out on his trips in the country on business and coming home at night he would frequently fall asleep in his commodious Cossack saddle. The horse would make a beeline for home, at an easy but swift pace. Arriving there it would rap at the front door with its foot until the watchman would open the porch and take the old gentleman out of the saddle. My grandmother told me this happened almost every week. Horse and master understood each other. Not being able to walk very well, he would hunt from horseback, the horse following the setters and coming to a standstill when one of them was on a point, the old gentleman guiding him entirely by pressure of the knees and voice, and having both hands free for his fowling piece. The horse died of old age on the place, as most of our servants. Peace to his ashes.

A Neat Retort.

Dean Farrar, soon after he went to St. Margaret's, Westminster, was dining at Prof. Jowett's, and towards dessert took up the parable against Dives. His voice rose higher and higher, he spread silence around him and he was heard thundering out: "What I complain of as a clergyman is that I have to do what no layman has to do. I have to beg and beg in vain. Fashionable ladies come to my church glittering with precious gems, and yet they will not sacrifice one diamond from their grand tiaras in order to save some erring sister from destruction." When he finished the silence grew sultry. All the hearers looked gloomily at their plates. Then Jowett, who had been looking as though he meant mischief, squeaked out: "What I object to as a clergyman is that I have to exaggerate so!"—St. James' Gazette.

Wanted to Read the Sign.

Skating weather brings with it memories of the old farmer in Maine who still clung to the invigorating pastime. He used to be the first one in his village to put on skates and was anxious always to see ice formed on the surface of the pond. One day he visited a pond to which he had not gone in some time, and was surprised to see a pole sticking through the ice with a board nailed on it, and something looking like painting on the board. "It says something on that ere board," said Mr. Farmer. "Just my luck, that my sight's poor and I ain't got my glasses. Howsomever, it's only a pleasant little skate to the post." Later they had to fish him out of the chilled water. The words on the sign were: "Ice thin here, keep away."—N. Y. Times.

At It Again.

"Yes," said Miss Elderleigh, "it's a fact that my family came over in the Mayflower."

"Indeed!" rejoined Miss Youngbud, "but then I suppose you were too young at the time to remember much about the trip."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THREE MEN OF MANY CRIMES.

They Confess to a Number of Assaults, Train Robberies and Holdups—One of Them Is Mortally Wounded.

Chicago, July 9.—Three men whose crimes are said to rival those of the car barn bandits, Van Dine, Neidermeyer and Marx, are being held by the police here while an investigation is being made of assaults, holdups and train robberies of which the prisoners are accused. The existence of the band whose members say they are "the original automatic trio," became known through the confession of one of them, Truman H. Wilkinson, who is at the point of death from a bullet wound received after he and his companions had held up and shot J. C. Meiler, secretary of a labor union. Suffering from the mortal wound, Wilkinson made a confession implicating his two companions, Charles Pheloyn and William Erwin, who were surprised and captured in a room. Later the two men also confessed.

The prisoners admitted committing the robbery of a Northern Pacific train at Bear Mouth, Mont., recently, but said nothing of a shooting which took place in connection with the robbery. In his confession Pheloyn spoke of having committed numerous robberies, one of which was in a jewelry store at Waukegan, Ill., $3,000 worth of jewelry having been secured. Pheloyn boasts of having lived in style at Chicago hotels. All three prisoners told of an alleged fortune of $26,000 buried by them in Indiana.

A KIDNAPPING CASE.

Masked Men Capture Five Prisoners from Two Deputy Sheriffs.

Victor, Col., July 8.—Considerable anxiety is felt here for the safety of five men who were deported from this district by the military, but who returned within the last week. The men were arrested by the civil authorities as soon as it was learned that they had defied the orders given them at the time of their deportation. They were kept under guard at a hotel until Wednesday night, when two deputy sheriffs started to escort them out of the camp. At a point west of the city near the Santa Rita mine the deputies were confronted by half a dozen masked men who were heavily armed.

The prisoners were taken from the deputies, as also were their guns, and they were ordered to return to town. This order they obeyed. A short distance from the point where the masked men first appeared, the deputies saw a large band of other masked men, numbering, they estimate, at least 50. Immediately on returning to the city the deputies told the sheriff's office and the military headquarters of their experience. Details of troops were sent out to search for the kidnapped men, and Sheriff Bell also headed a posse in pursuit. The pursuing parties returned to this city after several hours' fruitless search.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Midsummer Quiet Prevails in Mercantile Lines and Much Machinery Is Idle.

New York, July 9.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Midsummer quiet prevails in mercantile lines, and the past week has witnessed much idle machinery at manufacturing plants, yet reports from leading cities indicate increasing confidence in the future. The combination of reduced output and good weather for distribution of seasonable merchandice has improved the situation by contracting stocks of goods in the hands of jobbers and retailers. Collections at the end of the fiscal year were also a little better than anticipated. Transporting lines are more active, as shown by the increase of 4.2 per cent. in railway earnings compared with June, 1903.

Quotations of iron and steel products average slightly lower, although the markets are almost nominal. Few new contracts were placed during the past week, and the industry is at the dullest point of the year.

Failures this week numbered 206 in the United States, against 194 last year, and 12 in Canada, compared with 24 a year ago.

Weaver's Edict Prevented a Fight.

Philadelphia, July 9.—The six-round boxing bout between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack O'Brien which was to have taken place at the Philadelphia National league baseball park last night for the benefit of the Evening Telegraph free ice fund was declared off late Friday afternoon by the management on account of the action of Mayor Weaver in issuing orders to the police to stop the contest. The mayor held that a contest such as was scheduled between Fitzsimmons and O'Brien would be a prize fight and therefore a violation of the law.

To be Released Before August 1.

London, July 9.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick will be released, as an ordinary prisoner on ticket-of-leave, before August 1. The authorities have no intention of granting her a free pardon, but cannot impose any restrictions on Mrs. Maybrick after her arrival in America.

Thirty-nine More Survivors are Safe.

Glasgow, Scotland, July 9.—Another boat with Norge survivers, 11 passengers, eight sailors and one child, has reached the Shetland islands. This boat, which was in charge of the second mate of the Norge, was eight days on the open sea. The party rowed the entire distance to the islands. All on board the boat were much exhausted and unable to stand when they landed. Nineteen more survivors of the Norge, picked up from a boat by a sailing ship, have been landed at Thorshaven, Faroe Islands.

MAN HAS QUARTER STOMACH.

Other Three-Fourths of Organ Taken Out by Surgeons to Cure Cancer.

With three-fourths of his stomach in a pickle bottle, John Maguire is enjoying appetite and a renewal of health in Crozier hospital, Chester, Pa.

The operation which brought the stomach within the bottle was performed recently by Dr. William B. Van Lennep. It was the last desperate effort to save Maguire's life. He was a sufferer from cancer of the stomach and the involvment was so great that death seemed to be imminent.

Every precaution was taken to prevent recurrence of the malignant growth and to insure against blood poisoning. Removal of the diseased part was made with instruments heated by an electrical battery. A flap of the intestines was then sewed to the small pocket left by the remaining portion of the stomach and the usual openings left for drainage.

It was said at the hospital that all indications pointed towards complete recovery. While the stomach will hold only one-fourth as a result of the portion he lost, the deficiency will be made up for a time by more frequent meals. Nature, after awhile, will accommodate itself to the new condition by accelerating the processes of digestion in the intestines.

The operation has excited extraordinary interest in the hospitals and among surgeons. It is as rare as it was daring.

A TRACKLESS RAILWAY.

New Departure in Railroading in Germany Gives Every Promise of Success.

United States Consul Langer, at Solingen, Germany, reports to the department of commerce and labor that a trackless railway is being erected by the community of Monnheim, which will be the first of its kind in Prussia. It will run from Monnheim to Langenfeld, about 2½ miles long, with two short branches intended for freighting purposes.

For entering farm yards lying close to the road a connector and flexible cable 50 to 70 feet in length will be used to transmit the current to the motor car. When these trains pass each other one will remain standing under the wires and disconnect its current until the other has passed.

Farmers' wagons can be attached to the end of the train, provided the ordinary tongues are replaced by shorter coupling tongues.

Consul General Cole, at Dresden, Germany, reports that experiments also have been made near Dresden with railless electric roads, but it seems that the lines did not prove a marked success from a financial point of view.

Finds Curious Old Flag.

An old flannel American flag with a history has been found by Max Tewel, a York, Pa., tailor, in a disused corner of the attic over his shop. On a paper, yellow with age, in which the flag is wrapped, is written: "Take good care of this flag. It was made in 1778." Inasmuch as the first flag of its kind was made by Betsy Ross a year later, Mr. Tewel does not vouch for the correctness of the note. The flag is plainly of home manufacture. It has 13 white stars on a blue field. Stars and stripes were cut out by hand and sewed together with apparently much care and labor.

Both Profitable?

The visiting editors expressed great satisfaction with the Pike and its variant attractions. The Pike shows, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, occupy the same relation to the world's fair that the paid locals do to the country newspaper.

WRONG TRACK

Had to Switch.

Even the most careful person is apt to get on the wrong track regarding food sometimes and has to switch over.

When the right food is selected the host of ails that come from improper food and drink disappear, even where the trouble has been of lifelong standing.

"From a child I was never strong and had a capricious appetite and I was allowed to eat whatever I fancied—rich cake, highly seasoned food, hot biscuit, etc.—so it was not surprising that my digestion was soon out of order and at the age of twenty-three I was on the verge of nervous prostration. I had no appetite and as I had been losing strength (because I didn't get nourishment in my daily food to repair the wear and tear on body and brain) I had no reserve force to fall back on, lost flesh rapidly and no medicine helped me.

"Then it was a wise physician ordered Grape-Nuts and cream and saw to it that I gave this food (new to me) a proper trial and it showed he knew what he was about because I got better by bounds from the very first. That was in the summer and by winter I was in better health than ever before in my life, had gained in flesh and weight and felt like new person altogether in mind as well as body, all due to nourishing and completely digestible food, Grape-Nuts.

"This happened three years ago and never since then have I had any but perfect health for I stick to my Grape-Nuts food and cream and still think it delicious. I eat it every day. I never tire of this food and can enjoy a saucer of Grape-Nuts and cream when nothing else satisfies my appetite and it's surprising how sustained and strong a small saucerful will make one feel for hours." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

True food that carries one along and "there's a reason." Grape-Nuts 10 days proves big things.

HOW JACK LONDON ARRIVED

Story of Early Struggles Toward Success of Brilliant War Correspondent.

Jack London, the fascinating short story writer and brilliant war correspondent, now at the front, is but 28 years old, says the Boston Globe. Three years ago he was unheard of by the reading world. To-day he is read everywhere, is sought by publishers, and the pages of the magazines, from the Century down, are open to him.

The story of his early privations and hardships—his boyhood on a California ranch, his years before the mast in the waters of the Golden Gate, his struggle for learning, and the daring trip to the Klondike, from which he returned with more knowledge than nuggets—is known to most of his readers now. The story of how he "arrived," how he first set foot upon the stepping stone to success, he tells in the Editor, the New York magazine for literary workers, incidentally giving the latter class some excellent advice. Here are a few of his terse, pregnant sentences:

Work! Don't wait for some good Samaritan to tell you, but dig it out yourself.

Fiction pays best of all.

Don't write too much. Don't dash off a 6,000-word story before breakfast.

Avoid the unhappy ending, the harsh, the brutal, the tragic, the horrible—if you care to see in print the things you write.

Keep a notebook. Travel with it, eat with it, sleep with it. Slap into it every stray thought that flutters up into your brain.

This valuable advice is appended to the story of his own struggle for recognition. Every one likes to know how the successful succeed.

He had many liabilities and no assets, no income and several mouths to feed. He lived in California, far from the great publishing centers, and did not know what an editor looked like. But he sat down and wrote. Day by day his pile of manuscripts mounted up. He had vague ideas, obtained from a Sunday supplement, that a minimum rate of ten dollars a thousand words was paid, and figured on earning $600 a month, without overstocking the market.

One morning the postman brought him, instead of the usual long, thick manuscript envelope, a short, thin one. He couldn't open it right away. It seemed a sacred thing. It contained the written words of an editor of a big magazine. When, modest as ever, he had figured in his mind what the offer for this 4,000-word story would be at the minimum rate—$40, of course—he opened the letter. Five dollars!

Not having died right then and there, Mr. London is convinced that he may yet qualify as an oldest inhabitant.

But, by and by, in the course of its wanderings, one of his stories reached an editor who could see the genius of Jack London, and had the patience to penetrate beneath the husk of wordy introduction and discover the golden grain—the capital Story, with a capital S, and—rarest quality of all—the business sagacity to offer an unknown writer more for a good story than he would pay for a commonplace one from a famous author.

Here is the incident that proved the turning point in Jack London's literary career, as he so graphically tells it:

"Nothing remained but to get out and shovel coal. I had done it before, and earned more money at it. I resolved to do it again, and I certainly should have done it, had it not been for The Black Cat.

"Yes, The Black Cat. The postman brought me an offer from it for a 4,000-word story which was more lengthy and strengthy, if I would grant permission to cut it down half. Grant permission? I told them they could cut it down two-halves if they'd only send the money along, which they did, by return mail. As for the five dollars previously mentioned, I finally received it, after publication and a great deal of embarrassment and trouble. I forgot my coal-shoveling resolution, and continued to whang away at the typewriter."

And the rate he received for his first Black Cat story was nearly 20 times what the five-dollar editor paid.

Nor is Jack London the only writer who has been lifted from obscurity to prominence by the lucky Black Cat, which, as the New York Press has truly said, has done more for short-story writers and short-story readers than any other publication.

Each of its famous prize competitions has brought new writers to the front. In its most recent, the $2,100 prize was won by a young Texan who had never before written a story, and the second, $1,300, went to a lawyer's wife in an obscure Missouri town.

It has just inaugurated another contest in which $10,600 will be paid to writers in sums of from $100 to $1,500. This will, no doubt, add many new names to the list of those who have "arrived" through its recognition.

The conditions are announced in the current issue of The Black Cat, and will also be mailed free to any one by The Shortstory Publishing company, Boston, Mass. Even those who cannot write a winning story themselves may earn ten dollars by giving a timely tip to some friend who can.

But all should bear in mind that it will be entirely useless for any one to send a story to The Black Cat without first reading and complying with all the published conditions. Here is a chance for the reader to dig dollars out of his brain, for what life does not at least contain one tale worth telling?

WISE BEYOND HER YEARS.

Senators Cullom and Cannon Baffled by a Bright Little Girl.

At the republican state convention in Springfield, Ill., Senator Cullom and Speaker Cannon tried to get a popular ruling as to which is the handsomer man, says the New York Herald.

"If I had a face like yours, Joe," said the senator, "I'd wear a veil or build a fence around it."

"And if I looked like you, Shelby," replied "Uncle" Joe, "I'd walk backward all the time. Your rear elevation isn't so bad, but the front facade is a bad blotch."

"I'll tell you, Joe, we'll leave it to this little girl. She doesn't want any political job and I guess she'll be honest," suggested Senator Cullom.

The little girl's mother was with her. "Which do you think is the best looking, Dorothy?" asked the proud mother.

The child looked at both out of big, frank eyes and said:

"I don't like to say, mamma, which I like best. I might 'fend Mr. Cannon."

It Pays to Read Newspapers.

Cox, Wis., July 4.—Frank M. Russell of this place, had Kidney Disease so bad that he could not walk. He tried Doctors' treatment and many different remedies, but was getting worse. He was very low.

He read in a newspaper how Dodd's Kidney Pills were curing cases of Kidney Trouble, Bright's Disease, and Rheumatism, and thought he would try them. He took two boxes, and now he is quite well. He says:—

"I can now work all day, and not feel tired. Before using Dodd's Kidney Pills, I couldn't walk across the floor."

Mr. Russell is the most wonderful case ever known in Chippewa County. This new remedy—Dodd's Kidney Pills—is making some miraculous cures in Wisconsin.

Lost His Right Hand.

Seldom have the people of Ridgway been so horror stricken as they were Tuesday morning when news spread from mouth to mouth that Capt. Harry Hyde, the eldest son of the late Senator W. H Hyde, and one of Ridgway's leading busines men, had actually lost his right hand by an explosion of Fourth of July fireworks. Mr. Hyde is now lying at the Elk County Hospital where an operation was performed Tuesday morning, Dr. Palmer removing the torn and mangled shreds of the hand, Dr. F. G. Earley and Dr. A. T. Williams assisting with the operation. The hand was literally torn to pieces and the most of it gone. The wrist was injured so that the amputation was made an inch an a half above the wrist joint. Mr. Hyde stood the operation well and is resting nicely, so that there is little doubt of his recovery.—Ridgway Advocate, July 7th.

Healthy Mothers.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Boschee's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough racked consumptive. New trial bottles, 25; large size, 75c. At all druggists. 49-ly.
